ACTIVITY TITLE: Personality adjectives

AIM OF THE ACTIVITY: Boost vocabulary related to personality adjectives and practice reading, writing and speaking skills.

ESTIMATED DURATION: 60 minutes session

MATERIALS NEEDED: Copies of the attached documents for students.

ATTACHED DOCUMENTS: Personality adjectives / what qualities do you need to carry out this job.

SUGGESTED LEVEL: B2

PROCEDURE

1.- PERSONALITY ADJECTIVES (25 min)

Teacher hands in the "Personality Adjectives" and explains the meaning of the adjectives. Students have to write next to each adjective the name of a person they know that represents the adjective. If they don't know anybody they can choose names from the photographs of celebrities. Then, they speak and discuss the personality adjectives each celebrity represents. This may bring new words that the teacher may write and explain in the blackboard.

2.- WHO AM I TALKING ABOUT? (25 min)

Page 2 of "Personality Adjectives" sheet. Some students read out loud the brief texts about the celebrities. Teacher corrects pronunciation of students and then explains the words highlighted in red. After that, each student must write a description of a celebrity using personality adjectives and without. They cannot describe any physical aspect or say the name of the person described. They read out their descriptions and the rest of the class have to guess the name of the person described.

3.- WHAT QUALITIES DO YOU NEED...? (10 min)

Students gather in small groups and discuss the qualities needed to carry out in the different jobs represented in the sheet.

Barack Obama is considered to be one of the most important men in the planet. Some people may describe him as an ambitious man although some others may say that he is greedy. What is certainly true is that he is terribly popular.

Being American, it's quite understandable that he is a religious person and quite conservative but far from being bigoted. We may also agree that he is a sociable family man since he lives in the White House with his wife and daughters.

No one can deny the importance of Barack Obama in recent history, becoming the first African American president in the U.S.A. ; such a position turns him into one of the most powerful and influential persons in the planet.

Belén Esteban is definitely not an acceptable model of behavior. Incredibly impolite and fully ignorant, she's taking advantage of rotten media to reach stardom. Her foolish acts have made her go through hard times . Totally insensitive, she's been addict to illegal substances that had turned her into an unstable and fragile human being. In a television set, she acts like chatterbox instead of being talkative. Some spectators portrait her as a ridiculous and gullible dunce; naive to the point of annoyance and extremely ill-mannered, rude and blunt. As a mother of a child; some people wonder how she is capable of raising a girl having money and popularity as her only personal values.

Rafa Nadal represents the prototype of the strong-willed, determined, hard working professional. He shows himself as a shy youngster who sometimes may have problems being sociable.

In press conferences he's laconic and definitely not garrulous; going straight to the point instead of beating about the bush.

The fact that he has a powerful mind to fight adversity has been a key factor for him to be successful and beloved by every sports fan and respected by all.
